THUESDAY, June 19—6 P. M.
There was considerable activity in the stock market to-day, and the bulk of the operations was for cash. Prices were pretty well maintained, and holders of stocks generally were not disposed to submit to any depreciation; but a few operators being compelled to realize, accepted rates a fraction lower than those current at the close yesterday. Railroad bonds were in demand to day, and the transactions were larger than usual. At the first board, Erie Bonds, 1871, declined 4 per cent; Canton Company, 3 per cent; Eric Railroad Harlem, 14; Reading Railroad, 14; and Norwich, 14. The heavy depreciation of Canton was more from its own weight, and local causes, than from any external influence. We have repeatedly remarked that great and sudden flucfuntions in this stock would take place, and the movements of the past few days have confirmed the truth of our assertions. Eric bonds and stock are dull and depressed, and are likely to continue so. The amount pressi g upon the market is immense, and it is a wonder to us how prices are even so well sustained. Harlem has en tending downward during the past 1 sy or two, but the decline, so far, does not am unit to much. It is a matter of estonishment that every share of the stock is not taken out of the market at present prices. Partie anxious to buy largely are making great efforts to get it cown. Reading Railroad has not fallen off enough yet to attract the combination for another cornering operation. If they let it alone, it will soon reach their level, and wich and Worcester Railroad is a little depressed, but it will come up again in good time. It is extraordinary that regular dividend paying railroad stocks should fal off when their earnings show such a great increase, and the prospects are of such a favorable character. At the second board, the market was very heavy, and all the fancies sold fell off considerably.

The receipts at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of this port to day, amounted to $145,358 85; payments, $70.847 49—balance, $2.645,977 62.

The demand for foreign exchange this morning was active, and the rates unchanged. We quote, on London 10% a 10% per cent. prendum; on Paris, 5f. 8% a 5f. 7 %; Amsterdam, 41% a 41%; Bremen, 79 a 79%; Hamburg, 36% a 37. The steamship Pacific, for Liverpool, will take eut about $1,000.000 in specie, principally American gold. The steamship Crescent City, from Chagres, brough $750,000 in gold dust, on freight, and, it is estimated, as much more in the hands of passengers.

The melancholy intelligence from California has cast a gloom over the business classes of this city, and all is doubt and uncertainty relative to the ultimate effect of the disaster. It is estimated that two thirds of the loss will fall upon the merchants of New York, and we fear that this will prove fatal to many houses engaged in the California trade. An immense amount of money has been lost on merchandise shipped to San Francisco, which bankrupted scores of houses long before this last unfortunate event, and we fear that many are beyond all hope of redemption. It may be weeks before the full effects of this fire in San Francisco are realized. Desperate efforts will, without doubt, be made here to cover up the amount been experienced, as much as possible; but it must come out sooner or later. Large amounts of gold have been received from California; but compared with the amount of property sent to that country, it is trifling. California is probably, at this moment, more deeply indebted to this and other Atlantic citities than any section of the old States composing the Union, and previous to this fire the payments were limited, and millions upon millions in arrears. Up to this time, many houses in this city have been sustained by the ease with which money could be obtained; by the hope that something favorable would turn up—that something might transpire that would place them sgain in a solvent state, and enable them to keep their heads above water; but now, every hope has fied, and they see nothing but suspension staring them in the face. As we before remarked, it may be weeks and months before the effect becomes visible, as it is a striking feature in the character of our merchants, to not only sa sriftee the last dollar of their own means. but to enlarge their indebtedness to the fullest extent their credit wil permit, upon the principle that while there is life there is hope, and, like drowning men. catch at straws, to keep their heads above the surface a little while longer. There is a spirit of obstinacy, or desperation, among the mercantile classes of this country, calculated to lead them down to the deepest depths of bankruptcy, or extricate them from difficulties, which, to the merchants of any other country on the face of the earth, would have ap.

It will be recollected by those who were actively enber, 1836, was considered by many a trifling matter, that the immense destruction of real estate and merchandise estimated at the time to be full fifteen million of dolars, was not considered a national calamity, as it ultimately proved to be; and the activity and enterprise exhibited by those who were burned out, in erecting new warehouses and places for business, were considered the best evidence in the world of the little injury inflicted upon the commercial classes, by the total annihilation of such an immense amount of property. The burnt district was, soon after the fire, estimated to be worth more than it was six months previous, when all the buildings were untouched by the destroying element; and in a few months nearly the whole space was covered with splendid stores, filled with new and valuable stocks of goods. Individual losses were disguised, and private credit was, therefore, unharmed; but before six months had elapsed, the fact transpired that hundreds had been ruined-hopelessly, irretrievably ruined-by that disaster, and that the efforts made to prolong their merentile existence had not only involved them, but others who otherwise might have escaped, in one common fate. The commercial revulsion which developed itself in May, 1837, was hastened and strengthened by the great fire of December, 1836; and it is our impression that the position of hundreds of houses in this and other Atlantic cities, which have for a long time been exceedingly precaricus, in consequence of losses heretofore realized on their trade with California, will be made still more doubtful and dangerous by the stoppage of remittances from San Francisco, which have been depended on, and absolutely necessary, to keep the wheels of commerce in me tien. When the crisis arrives, it will be admitted by shose who are prestrated by it, that California was the rock upon which they split, and that their losses have

The carnings of the Boston and Maine Railroad Company, for the six months ending May 31, 1851, amounted to $255,679 24 against $271,870 79 for the corresponding months the previous year, showing an increase of $23. 808 45, equal to about nine per cent.

The Commissioner of Loans, of the State of Maryland, gives notice that, under instructions from the State Treasurer, he will pay, on the first of July next, the balance of the outstanding funded stock issued for arrear interest. This stock, it will be recollected, was issued for interest in arrear, during the suspension of the State, from 1842 to 1848. On the first of July next the State will have paid all the stock issued for arrear interest, amounting to $878,737 45. The first payment in redemption of this stock was made in October, 1849, and the whole will have been paid, with interest, in less than two years. Having thus disposed of the funded arrears of interest, the surplus means of the State will, hereafter, be exclusively devoted to the reduction of the funded debt proper.

New Hampshire exhibits a favorable condition of its finances. The Governor, in his message of the present month, states that the existing debt of the State is about $76,000, while in 1850 it was only $20,897. For the first time in many years the Treasurer's report exhibits an indebtedness of the State at the close of the fiscal year. This public debt is a small affair, and is rather in-dieative of sluggishness in the progress of the State. The quantity of flour, wheat, corn and barley left at tide-water, during the second week in June, in the years 1866 and 1851, was as follows :--

The movements of produce this year, have been of the most extraordinary character. compared with last year, and the year before, there has been great activity in the receipts of breadstuffs; and if they continue throughout the season, at the rate realized thus far, the supply on hand at the close of navigation, will be in excess of any previous year. The consumption of the country is immense, and the annual increase in the quantity required to meet the domestic demand is probably greater than in any other country on the face of the earth. We have not exported a very large amount of produce this year, and the demand for shipment is not likely to be very active during the remainder of the season. The effect of this is unfavorable upon prices in our markets, particularly as the supply has been so extensive Our crops look well, and the harvest bids fair to be unusually productive. Unless we have a foreign demand for our breadstuffs, they must rule very low in our markets. Capitalists must not lose sight of the opportunity that presents itself for sending in bids for the mortgage bonds of the Wilmington and Manchester Railroad Company. Proposals will be received for three hundred bonds of $1,000 each, bearing seven per cent interest, and secured by the first and only mortgage on the entire line of road, completed and to be completed, from Wilmington, N. C., to Manchester, S. C., a distance of 162 miles, costing, when finished with heavy T rail, and equipped, $1,000,000. The trustee for the bondholders is Edward Sandford, Esq., of this city, who is empowered, in case of sixty days' default in payment of interest or principal, to take possession of the entire line of road, with its equipments, &c., and to sell the same to the highest bidder for cash, to pay arrears of interest or principal. This is one of the most important links in the great chain of railroads intended to bind the North and South more closely together.

By means of this road, the great chain of railroads along the Atlantic coast, from Montgomery, Als., to the northern cities, will be complete, and the disagreeable sea route from Wilmington to Charleston, S. C., so much dreaded and deprecated by the travelling public, dis-pensed with. The transportation, by this road, of the mail, will shorten the schedule time from New York to Augusta, Georgia, about nineteen hours, assuming that the rest of the present route in connection with it is retained; but by some modifications of the scheduler much more time may be saved; and so soon as the Georgia Railroad connects with Montgomery, Ala., (the work on which is now progressing in a manner that puts its completion, beyond doubt, within the next twelve months.) the saving of time from New York to New Orleans would be from sixty to seventy hours. The position of this road, its connections North and South, its easy grades, freedom from curves, and consequently cheap construction, is such as to put it beyond the competition of any other route for the mail and travel betwirt New Orleans and New York. This consideration had great weight in the original undertaking, and has given confidence to its stockholders and friends ever since. By an examination of the map, it will be seen how the extensions south and west from the Georgia roads are progressing; and as these avenues of travel are opened, their lateral branches multiplied, and the intercourse betwixt that country and the Northern cities increased, the amount of travel which must pass over this road as the great trunk line of communication from North to South, cannot now be fairly estimated by any comparison which can be drawn from the present business of the connecting lines now in operation on either side of it. The route selected for the railroad between Wilmington and Manchester is direct and level, shorter than any road now travelled. One hundred and fiftyconnected by easy curves—only eight miles of curves occur in the whole distance, and four and a half miles of this is in descending the grade at the junction with the rate of seven per cent per annum, principal and interest redemable in the city of New York; the principal on the Jrue, 1866.

WILMINGTON AND MANCERSTER RAILROAD—
$300,000 seven per cent Morrage Bonds.—Sealed proposals will be rafelyed by the subscribers until Thursday, the 10th day of July next, for three hundred thousand dollars of the first and only Morrage Bonds of the Willemington and Manchester Railroad Company, bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum, principal and interest redeemable in the city of New York; the principal on the let June, 1866.

The Bonds are in sums of $1,000 each, with coupons payable at the Merchante Hank, New York, on the lest Desember and 1st June in each year, convertible into the capital stock of the cempany, at the option of the holders.

They are issued under acts of the Legislatures of North and South Carolina, secured by a Mortgage, or Deed of Truet, to Edward Sandford, Esq., of New York, in truet for the holders of the Bonds.

The Deed of Trust covers the entire line of the road completed and to be completed from Wilmington, in N. C., to Manchester, in S. C., a distance of 162 miles, costing, when completed with a heavy T rail and equipped, $1,000,000. The extraordinary adaptedness of the country to the construction of a railway accounts for this low cost.

The Trustee is empowered, in case of 60 days' default in payment of principal or interest, to take possession of the entire line of road, with its equipments, stations, income, franchise, &c., the same to sell, at his discretion, to the highest bit liter for cash, to pay arears of principal or interest.

The whole amount of bonds authorized to be issued by vote of the steckholders, at a meeting called for that purpose in April last, and an order of the Raitroad Board, its $000,000 for highest bit was a man to pay the residue of the iron rails and equipments, only $300,000 of which are now offered for sale.

The Company will low no other debt when the road in completed.

This road will prove an important link in the great chain.

ments, only $300,000 of which are now offered for sale.

The Company will owe no other debt when the road is completed.

This road will prove an important link in the great chain of railroads from Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. to New Orleans, connecting at Wilmington with the Raleigh and Wilmington 2-41way, now in successful operation, at Manchester, with the great South Carolina Railroad leading from Charleston, in the direction of Mongomery, Alabama, now in the receipt of near a million of "dars anoually from its business; will avoid the present disagree." At Pra voyage from Wilmington to Charleston, shorten the trave & New Orieans one day's time, facilitate the mails, and with the North.

The position of this road, its connections North and South, its easy grades, (none over thirty feet to the mile,) freedom from curves, and cheap construction, is such as to put it beyond the competition of any other line of read, for the immense inland travel between the North and New Orleans.

The greater part of this road traverses the most populous and fertile portions of South Carolina, producing cotton, corn, &c., in great abundance. Its local business alone will support it handsomely.

The census of 1800 shows that the district of country which will be tributary to this read, and dependant on it for bransportation to market, produced in 1801 seventy theusand baloe of cotton, of an average weight seach of 450 links.

The Company has one million of available stock subscribed, most of which can be added, at any time, at the option of the Company, $500,000, subscribed by the State of North Carolina postering anomal, and any little that the next annual profits will reach 12 per cent jer annum.

Carolina on certain conditions.

It is estimated that the net annual profite will reach 12 per cent per annum.

About one half of the entire liue has been graded and bridging. About one half of the entire liue has being ready for the iron rais immediately.

The entire line is under contract for grading and bridging and in a forward state toward completion.

Six thousand two hundred tons iron rails. T pattern, have been purchased and are in the course of delivery.

About $700,000 has already been expended in construction, including payment for the rails purchased.

It is expected that about 30 miles from Manchester Back will be completed and in operation in the fall of the year, and the entire line to Wilmington early next year.

The management of this Read is in highly respectable and competent hands. No work in the South undertaken er projected meets with more public favor than this.

For further and more particular information we refer to a printed "Exhibit" giving full details of the road and its aliairs, which contains a Map of the line with its many connections, copies of the Bond and Mortgang, opinion of Counsel, &c., prepared by Gen W. W. Harilee, President of the Company, which may be obtained on application at the office of the Company, at Wilmington, N.
